Hi Nick –

One hot issues. The bold is really our hot issue but the non bold is the context for you (and maybe lauris if she has questions). There is a big meeting (this isn't really news to Lauris/Ed), but the bold part is an important add on. We did inspections this summer and Pavitt will be presenting a company-sanitized version of lessons learned to help educate the regulated community.

The Sector will hold its annual in-person meeting in Anchorage, September 24-26, 2019. The purpose of the Extended Team Meeting/Workshop is to provide Sector members and other EPA staff the opportunity to come face-to-face to share information and work on timely issues relevant to the Sector. In addition, with the meeting being held in Anchorage, we are maximizing the opportunity to build relationships, foster communication and share information with other federal, state and industry representatives. Day 1 will be internal discussions and presentations covering administrative and programmatic issues, as well as a general overview of the industry from the Alaska Oil and Gas Association. For Day 2, we have invited external partners to join us in information sharing and discussion. Federal agencies planning to participate are Bureau of Land Management, US Army Corps of Engineers, and Bureau of Ocean Energy Management. Participating State agencies are ADEC (APDES, Air and SPAR) and ADNOR (OPMP and DOG). Industry representatives from the following companies will also be joining us: Eni, ConocoPhillips, Hilcorp, Oil Search, Alyeska and Petro

Star. Day 3 will entail visits to the Alaska Geologic Materials Center, ADNRR Division of Oil and Gas offices, and the ConocoPhillips Integrated Activity Center. Megan Garvey, EPA Senior Advisor for Oil and Gas, Regional Management and State Affairs will also be joining us to share EPA's national perspective. R10 ECAD air compliance inspector John Pavitt will give a presentation on Compliance with Subpart OOOOa (Standards for Crude Oil and Natural Gas Facilities), based on a series of inspections in Prudhoe Bay this summer.
